

HOW TO LOAD YOUR DISK

IBM Computers

Use your DOS (disk operating system) disk in Drive A to start your computer. When your display shows A>, key in 'autoexec' and press 'return.' Now you are ready to play GOLF.

Apple Computers

1. Insert the diskette in drive 1. Turn your computer on.
2. The display will read:
DO YOU HAVE A PRINTER [Y/N]
If you would like a listing of your scorecard when you finish, turn your printer on and enter 'Y' to this prompt, otherwise enter 'N' and go to step 4.
3. The display will now read:
WHAT SLOT IS YOUR PRINTER IN [0-7]:
Enter the single digit slot number of your printer.
4. The display will now read:
INSTRUCTIONS [Y/N]
'Y' will give you full instructions! Let's play golf!

Commodore 64/128

Enter as follows:
LOAD "GOLF", 8 (press return)
TYPE: RUN (press return)

How to Respond to Prompts

A prompt is a request for information, the computer game asks you a question and you respond by typing the answer. Easy! If the prompt ends with a question mark (?), you must press RETURN after you type your answer. If the prompt ends with a colon (:), just type your answer and the game continues. You do not press RETURN when the prompt ends with a colon (:).

How to Request Instructions

One of the special features of this game is a complete set of instructions at the beginning of the game. If you are just learning to play, we suggest that you read through the instructions before playing.

Type the letter 'Y' and watch while the first page of instructions is displayed. Read the instructions and strike any key to continue to the next page. When you reach the last page and strike any key, you will be ready to name the players.

NOTE: If you're already a pro, go straight to naming the players by answering 'N' to the instructions prompt.
