Discover the World II

Challenge 16th century pirates, vicious hurricanes, scurvy and starvation as you explore for vast treasures of gold, jewels and fabled fortunes in silk, spices and furs. Follow captured maps to "treasure" islands. Hunt weird and wonderful animals from around the world (be careful, some of these animals may hunt you!!!).

You will start as an inexperienced lieutenant, leading a small party of explorers with only enough goods and food to survive a short while. Explore, trade, and discover new parts of the world to advance yourself through the ranks of Commodore and Vice-Admiral. Complete your royal quests to attain the highest rank of Fleet Admiral.

Ages 10 and up.

The original version of Discover the World for Apple II and IBM (CGA) is still available at $ 19.95.

Knights & Kings

Fight for the Crown! In Knights & Kings the future of the Middle Ages is in your worthy hands. Choose a character and a side. Lead the Rogue masses in their quest for power. Or align yourself with the ruling Barbarians who are desperate to hold onto the throne. It's up to you. Will you bring forth peace and prosperity? Or will you start a new reign of terror?

It's war and much more. Design your own strategies then zoom in on the battlefields and assume tactical command. Do you chance a direct thrust toward London? Can you defeat your enemy by laying siege to his castles? As you battle, you must also deal with plagues, famine, the ever increasing power of the church and much more. For example, do you know how to react when the blood of a dead man trickles toward you? You could die if you make the wrong decision.

Europe: September 1, 1939

Fight for your life! In Europe: September 1, 1939, you have reached a turning point and only you can determine how the future will unfold. Choose a character and a side. Will you lead Germany's mighty armed forces, or align yourself with the stalwart though ill-prepared Allied armies? You design the strategies, you direct the troop movements. Then zoom in on the battlefields and assume tactical command. Will you outsmart your opponent, or will you fall into a trap?

Race for the West

The race is on! Load your keel boat, hitch up your horse, get ready to row. You have been sent to explore and claim the uncharted territory west of the Mississippi and north of Arkansas. Of course you are not the only one desiring this vast and unknown area. The French and Spanish also covet it. You must survive dangerous waters, towering mountains, unknown natives, and much more—on your way to plant the American flag at the mouth of the Columbia River. Start at St. Louis. Move north up the Mississippi then west along the Missouri. Beyond that the choice is yours. But beware, far to the west are lands long claimed by the Spanish. To the north, who knows? There are rumors of boiling mud, endless plains, and monstrous mountains...

Civil War

Fight for your rights! In Civil War, you have reached a turning point and only you can determine how the future will unfold. Choose a character and a side. Will you lead the Union's well equipped forces, or align yourself with the stalwart, motivated Confederate armies? You design the strategies, you direct the troop movements. Then zoom in on the battlefields and assume tactical command.

It's as real as war. Each element of military strategy is important, and your tactics are critical. As leader of the South, can you chance a raid on Washington, or should you defend your cities and hope the North quickly tires of the conflict? As leader of the North you must balance your military plans with political realities.

Germicide

The body is a battlefield! Be the doctor and fight off viruses, bacteria and other body invaders using antibodies, medications, diet, and exercise. Or be the germ leader and direct parasites, bacteria and viruses to attack the patient. Zero in on lungs, stomach or other body organs with your tiny troops and learn how to be infectious. But watch out! If you are not quick the antibodies will get you. This interactive simulation explores and re-creates the battle for the body.

Note: Germicide is not available for Apple II.

Forty Niners

Go for the Gold! Challenge rough terrain, violent weather, hostile Indians, disease and much more.

Journey to the hills of California to join the search for precious metal. Should you survive the trip, your riches are far from guaranteed. First you have to stake a claim, then you have to work it (and the work is far from easy). Finally, if you do find gold you'll have to defend yourself from claim jumpers and thieves. California or bust! Starting in Mississippi, you will join a wagon train heading west. With only a few dollars in your pocket, you must decide what to bring with along, whether a medical kit is necessary, and whether you can afford a horse, or even oxen to pull your cart. You must plan your food and water supplies carefully.

Weather Wizards

What's the weather like today? When you hear this question do you ever wonder why the weather is the way it is? Weather is always with us and is always changing. It is so much a part of our lives that sometimes we forget it is there... until the sudden strike of lightning or the horrible blast of a hurricane wakes us from our slumber. Find out why the thermometer goes up and down. Demonstrate why it is hotter at the equator than at the poles. Create winds, manipulate humidity and identify cloud types. Juggle the forces of weather to produce storms and extinguish forest fires, to create dew, and to remove the threat of early frost. Save coastal residents from the terror of a hurricane. Accept the challenge to become a weather wizard and earn your first golden slippers (awarded only to the most deserving Weather Wizards).

Adventures in Astronomy

Go for the stars! You'll soon be enrolled at the Humble Space Academy, a training facility for better astronauts everywhere. If you pass the entrance exam, you'll start a whirlwind training program which will take you to the moon, under the ocean, and across the solar system. You'll investigate eclipses and tides, learn to judge seasons (so you can fly home from Jupiter in time for Christmas), and experiment with gravity. With each successful mission you will earn promotions towards the much sought after (and rarely won) distinction of being named a spaceship astrogator.
