

The background of the cover features a soldier in full combat gear, including a helmet with goggles and a tactical vest, running forward while holding an M4-style assault rifle. The soldier is in the center of the frame. In the background, two military helicopters are visible, one on the left and one on the right, both with soldiers hanging from their sides. The overall color palette is a desaturated, olive-green or military green, giving it a gritty, war-torn appearance.
