

Conversions Plus allows you to use Macintosh Disks (floppy, SCSI, and CD-ROM) in your PC and convert files from Mac to PC, PC to Mac or between different PC programs. All file formatting is retained, so you don't have to retype anything.

To Convert a File on Your PC:

1. Run Conversions Plus. You will be presented with the main file window.

2. From the Source window, select the file(s) you would like to translate.
3. From the Destination window, select the directory for your translated file(s).
4. Click <Copy & Convert>.
5. You will now be in the Set Formats window. Your file type will automatically be recognized and you will have a choice of what you would like to convert the file to.

6. Choose the program you want to convert your file to. Click <OK> and Conversions Plus will convert the file.
Note: To view a Macintosh disk through DOS or the File Manager, when using Windows 3.1, simply view it as you would any PC disk. Check your manual or Online Help for more details.

Conversions Plus allows you to preview text and graphic files before converting them. This is useful when you are not sure of the contents of a particular file and would like to get a quick glance at it before converting it.

To Preview a Graphic File on Your PC:

1. Run Conversions Plus. You will be presented with the main file window.

2. From the Source window select the graphic file(s) you would like to preview. Note that you can preview a batch of graphics by holding down the control key and clicking on each of the files.
3. Select <Preview>.
4. You will now be in the Graphic Preview Window. You can select a portion of the graphic to convert, convert the entire image, or move to the next preview in your selection of files.

Note: Conversions Plus also allows you to convert images to and from the Windows clipboard. Check your manual or Online Help for more information.
