What to do if the CD-ROM does not start automatically

Follow these steps to view the CD-ROM's contents if it does not start automatically.

■ Windows Users

1. Open "My Computer" ("Computer" in the case of Windows Vista) and double click on the "Web Japan (CD Drive)" icon.
2. Next, double click on the "index.html" icon to open the contents.

■ What to do in Windows Vista when the AutoRun dialog box appears

If the AutoRun dialog box appears upon inserting the CD-ROM into the CD-ROM drive, double click on "rundll32.exe". The CD-ROM will run automatically.

If the files in the CD-ROM are displayed by clicking "Open folder to view files," double click on "index.html" and the contents will open.

■ Mac Users

1. Double click on the "Web Japan (CD Drive)" icon on the desktop to open the CD-ROM.
2. Now double click on "index.html" to open the contents.
